

Les Grands Hurlleurs BIO

A promising new chapter for Les Grands Hurlleurs with now four musicians on stage: Nicolas Pellerin (vocals, violin, feet, cajon), Simon Lepage (double bass), Olivier Rondeau (guitar) and Tommy Gauthier (violin, mandolin). The band will release their 5th album ELLIPSE next NOV. 5, 2021. This group has won the hearts of Quebec and international audiences with its modernized and accessible traditional music. This change will breathe new life into the group's music, which is just as vibrant, but more refined. On guitar, Olivier brings a unique touch to the accompaniment as well as sophisticated and original arrangements. On violin and mandolin, Tommy's talent enhances the moods, grooves and energy of the group.

The band wants to go back to the roots by daring to sound closer to acoustic instruments with careful and thoughtful arrangements while remaining organic. With the integration of folk, classical and bluegrass influences, the band will surprise and touch people once again with this enriched trad! Fiddles, mandolin, guitar, double bass, feet and rich vocal harmonies come together to explore a multitude of emotions.

The album Chouïa, released in 2018, was the occasion to celebrate the 10th anniversary of Les Grands Hurlleurs. It was featured in La Presse's 2018 TOP 10 KEB FRANCO.
